Your name will be found printed on each copy of the PRESS, as you receive it and gives the last date to which you have paid. Our terms are $2.00 if not paid in advance, $1.50 in advance. Many, very many, of our patrons allow their subscriptions to run year after year. This we are unable to stand. We have been patient, but "patience has ceased to be a virtue," and we now propose to weed out all those subscribers who show no disposition to pay for their paper.

SENATOR QUAY A CANDIDATE.

He Makes an Announcement to that Effect, Before Leaving for Florida--Offers a Reward of $10,000.

Senator Quay, before his departure for Florida, formally announced his candidacy for re election. He was in consultation with Senator Penrose, State Chairman Elkin, ex-Auditor General Mylin, Allen B. Rorke, Senator Durham and other lieutenants. Senator Penrose, Allen B. Rorke and the Beaver man's three sons accompanied him to Florida.

The announcement of Senator Quay's candidacy was made in the following signed statement given out by him just before he left the Hotel Walton for Florida:

"Throughout the remarkable campaign just closed I declined to give expression to any opinion regarding the issues involved or the methods resorted to by the enemies of Republicanism, though persistently urged to speak. It may not be out of place to briefly do so, now that the battle is over and the victory won. There has never been such a contest in Pennsylvania or any other Commonwealth. Those engaged in the warfare against the Republican candidates and against those conspicuous in the councils of the party cast issues and principles to the four winds, and the contest was a man-hunt, pure and simple.

"Villification and misrepresentation took the place of argument and logic, and the passion of man was appealed to rather than his reason. Never in the history of American politics did personal abuse reach such a high tide of development, not even in the days of Alexander Hamilton, who was hounded by malicious enemies as no man in political life had ever been before. The result in Pennsylvania is not only personally gratifying to me, but it must be to every fair-minded Republican in the State.

"The sovereign people have, by their emphatic verdict, set the seal of condemnation upon the hideous methods of campaigning resorted to in the late contest, by the enemies of the Republican party. The falsifier, the scandalmonger, the libeler, has been repudiated by the people, and never again will the present generation witness the performances of this brood of character assassins.

"Despite the extraordinary efforts to defeat Republican candidates for the Legislature, which have been successful in a number of counties, the General Assembly will be overwhelmingly Republican, the political complexion of the two bodies being as follows:

"Senate-Republicans, 38; Democrats, 12. House—Republicans, 127; Democrats, 74; Independents, 3.

"The Legislature will comprise, therefore, 165 Republicans, 86 Democrats and 3 Independents, a Republicrn majority on joint ballot of 76, or nearly two-thirds. Regarding the United States Senatorship, I can only say this: All of my personal friends have been aware of my personal antipathy to another term in the Senate, but those prominent in the late crusade against the Republican State Legislative candidates chose to force the issue.

"They have made it imperative that I shall be a candidate for re-election.

"The guage of battle is accepted. The result is in the hands of the Republican members of the incoming Legislature, a very large proportion of whom are my political and personal friends.

"Of the result there can be no possible doubt. Throughout the campaign just closed enormous sums of money were used to defeat Republican Legislative candidates. I have no doubt efforts will be made to tamper with some of the members-elect, but they will not be successful. The attempt to purchase the United States Senatorship two years ago did not succeed then, nor will a similar attempt succeed now, bargain-counter methods having been repudiated by the people of this State.

"Should, however, any attempt be made to bride Legislators-elect, the same leniency will not be shown as in the Van Valkenburg case. That there may be no mistake regarding my position in this matter, I hereby offer a reward of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any one endeavoring to bribe any State Senator or Representative-elect. The money for the payment of this reward is on deposit with George A. Huhn & Sons, bankers and brokers, Philadelphia."

M. S. QUAY.

Obituary.

Theresa, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Normanly, died at the family residence on Sixth street, on Thursday the 10th inst. of a complication of diseases, aged two years and eight months. Funeral was held Saturday and interment made in St. Marks Cemetery.

There Are Others.

Temperance workers are not those who keep jugs of whiskey in their cellars. Hypocrisy and tomcats.—Cross Forks News. Brother Moore, did some of them get over there? We thought we had most of that gang in Cameron, but we forgot that the county line is not far away. You are right, they are sweet scented flowers.

Austin Burglarized.

The "Saw Dust City" was visited early Tuesday morning by a gang of "bold, bad men," who proceeded to do the place up brown. After procuring a slab they broke in the plate glass window in Warner's jewelry store and secured revolvers and ammunition to the amount of twenty dollars. They then repaired to the Enterprise House and relieved the till of about thirteen dollars in cash, and taking the cigar case with them up Turner street, where it was emptied of its contents Watkin's Racket Store was next visited but they couldn't have made much of a racket in effecting an entrance to the store as they found no trouble in reaching the old gentleman's bed room and gaining possession of his clothes, which they quickly rifled of a watch, pocket book and pair of spectacles. At this hour no further depredations have been reported. No clue to the robbers.

Obituary.

MRS. MARY ANN ELLIOTT, aged 86 years and four months, died at the residence of Mrs. H. C. Rockwell, her daughter, at this place, Friday, Nov. 11th. Deceased had been an invalid for several years, suffering from the effects of a fall. During the past two or three years she has made her home with Mrs. Rockwell and received every care and comfort a dutiful daughter could bestow upon her. Her remains were taken to Hughesville on Monday and laid to rest beside the husband who had preceded her twenty-three years ago.

Short religious services were held at the residence of Mrs. Rockwell, before departing for Hughesville, by Rev. Robertson. Services were also held at the grave at Hughesville. Next Sunday, at 10:00 a. m., a special sermon will be preached at Hughesville by the Pastor of Mrs. Elliott's church, where she resided so many years and was greatly respected and loved by all.

Death of Chas. Welton.

Chas. Welton, proprietor of the Enterprise House, at Sinnemahoning, died last Tuesday night, aged 55 years. Mr. Welton has been in poor health for several years, yet his death was a great shock to his community. Deceased was well and favorably known in this county and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his death. The funeral was held this morning at 8:00 o'clock, from the family residence and the remains were interred in family lot at Gilmore school house, on First Fork. Mr. Welton was a charter member of Coudersport lodge, A. Y. M., and was buried with the honors of the order.

JOHN J. SOBLE.

Sailing Under False Colors.

The Erie Dispatch in commenting on the defeat of Geo Higgins for Congress, in the Erie-Crawford district by only 21 votes, claims the almost unanimous vote of the Prohibitionists (?) was cast for the Democratic candidate. Why bless you soul, of course they voted for the Democratic candidate—they will do that always. As a class the Prohibitionists are the most hypocritical, inconsistent and unreliable commodity on the market and may be expected to work and vote with the whiskey class every time, no matter how worthy the other fellow may be or how strong he may be in favor of temperance. Honest, conscientious temperance men are not Prohibitionists—this class of men have long since deserted that crew. Prohibitionists are sore-heads, disgruntled, "holier than thou" class of men—demagogues masquerading under the disguise of temperance. Scratch under the hide of nine out of every ten of the leaders and you will find a free trade, free silver Democrat.

All for "Reform."

The 27th Congressional district should have six Republican members in the Legislature but the potent influences of free silver and lots of it knocked out three of them—two from Venango and one from Cameron. Thank the Lord that Dempsey and Richmond of this county and Parshall of Warren were saved; even if the latter only got in by a scratch. Mullin of Cameron, by good rights should have been elected. It is a disgrace that he was not as the rest of the Republican ticket in that county went through in good shape. It seems that there are treacherous, purchasable Republicans in that county as well as in others of the 27th district.—Kane Republican.

Selling Out, Regardless of Cost.

We have decided to leave Emporium for a larger town, and everything in the store will be sold regardless of cost.

We have a fine stock of men's and boys' suits and overcoats, nearly all this season's make, which we will sell without regard for cost.

We also have an immense stock of hats, caps, shoes, underwear, men's furnishings, trunks and valises, which must be sold within the next thirty days. You will miss a good bargain if you do not call and see for yourself. Such an opportunity to buy good clothing cheap, was never before offered to the people of this vicinity.

JOHN J. SOBLE.

Opp. post-office.

Changed Hands.

Mr. Chas. Seger, who has been the owner of the Commercial Hotel, at this place, for some time, disposed of the property yesterday to Mr. Michael Murphy, of Driftwood, who will take possession of the same within a few days. Mr. Murphy comes to Emporium well recommended, in fact his friends here are legion. Mr. Murphy will be "at home" about Dec. 1st. We have been intimately acquainted with Mr. Murphy since he first came to Cameron county and always found him a square, upright and honorable man.

Longfellow to be Illustrated.

Last year Charles Dana Gibson illustrated "The People of Dickens" for the Ladies Home Journal. The pictures were so successful that this year, and during next year, W. L. Taylor, the New England artist who has made such rapid strides in his art, will illustrate "The people of Longfellow"—also for the Ladies' Home Journal. The poems selected are "The Psalm of Life," "Hiawatha," "Evangeline," "The Courtship of Miles Standish," "The Children's Hour," "The Village Blacksmith," and others.

Result on Congress.

	Sibley	Stone
Cameron,	561	849
McKean,	3906	3546
Warren,	3498	3969
Venango,	6069	3434
Total,	14,034	11,798
	11,798
Sibley's plurality,	2,236

The above ($) is the result of the election in this 27th Congressional district. The men to blame for Chas. W. Stone's defeat have two years in which to repent in sack cloth and ashes for their devlish deeds.

Sudden Death.

Elmer E. Bailey, son of our old friend Washington Bailey, of First Fork, died suddenly on Sunday at his residence in Philadelphia. His remains were brought to Westport on Tuesday for burial. His death was a severe shock to his family and friends.

ALL AROUND THE COUNTY.

Buckwalter.

Claud is acting as assistant cookee at the hotel Hillard.

The continued rain we had, made the creek very high.

Henry Wadnen was a visitor to the county seat last week.

Geo. Spay was a visitor at Mr. Hillard's one day last week.

Postmaster Heath made a flying trip to Emporium last week.

Election day was a holiday for Martin Lawson and his crew.

Harry Moore made postmaster Heath a visit last week one day.

If you want a package, rat trap or any thing from town, tell Clatie.

Mr. Tom Norton took a load of very fine turnips to town last Saturday.

Miss Birdie Taggart, of Emporium, was in our city between trains, Saturday.

Miss Ethel Waddington of this place made a flying trip to Emporium, election day.

Will Lyons, of Emporium, was seen going through our city on Leet & Co.'s meat wagon.

Joe Fisher and Tom Waddington were seen going through our burg one day last week.

Mr. Wm. Moore, of Moore Hill, spent a few days with Mr. Norton and family at this place.

Mr. Zerby, of Straight Creek has recently moved onto one of Mike Hillard's farms at this place.

Butcher Sipple is doing a rushing business, and if trade keeps up will have to add a few more hands.

Miss Carrie Spay and her cousin George, spent Sunday in our burg hunting for certain verses in the bible.

Fred Norton and his brother Arthur left last Wednesday for Beechwood, wood where they have secured a position from Mr. Kline.

Richard Bliss and son Milfred, returned on Saturday from Potter county. They claim a person isn't in it over there unless he has a leek hook.

We understand Beechwood will be booming this winter. Kline is putting in an extract works, and will employ in the neighborhood of 100 men.

Mr. J. W. Heath, manager of the Summit Supply Co's store at Keating Summit, visited his son Wm. who holds a lucrative position with the P. & E. R. R. Co. at this place.

The other day I was going by a house in the east end, and I heard a young man say, that he knew he could go with a certain young lady in the west end. My boy, you had better keep on putting down carpet.

Sinnemahoning.

The mills at this place has been idle for a week or more on account of high water, a break down and election.

A. R. Berfield and Bert Lighter have formed a co-partnership in the grocery business and mean to hustle trade for all it is worth. May success crown their efforts.

C. W. Welton has moved out of the Enterprise House into his cozy cottage on the hill Charley is in very poor health and found it necessary to abandon the hotel business. O. L. Bailey is now the proprietor and "cocktailed architect" of this popular hostelry.

A telegram received here on Saturday announcing the death of E. E. Bailey, at Philadelphia, caused a sadness in the hearts of the many friends of deceased at this place. He was a Sinnemahoning boy, born and raised on First Fork, the only son of Washington Bailey, one of Grove township's substantial farmers. Elmer was a bright and energetic young man, very companionable and had a host of friends in this county. Several years ago he invented and patented an air gun and moved to Philadelphia and established a manufacturing plant, where he has been in active business up to the time of his death.

JOE.

Cameron.

E. F. Comley visited at Emporium on Wednesday.

C. C. Craven, of Sterling Run, was in town Tuesday.

Joe Yocum was at the county seat on business on Tuesday.

Bill Snyder, of St. Marys, was in town the first of the week.

E. C. Counsil visited his parents at Sinnemahoning one day this week.

Miss Adly Mason, of Sterling Run, was the guest of Mrs. M. L. McConnel over Sunday.

Wonder what was the matter with Frank, last Sunday night, that he fell out of the seat.

Miss Lily Rendt, of Emporium, is visiting with her sister Mrs. Fred Morse of this place.

Emery Dininey moved to Sinnamahoning last week, where he is laboring in the mill for Barclay Bros.

JIMMY.

First Fork.

A man by the name of Jack Hartnett was found dead on Saturday morning in Smith Corwin's barn on Bailey Run.

Some person or persons stole the carpet out of Wharton church, a few days ago. Nothing has been learned of the whereabouts of carpet or parties.

On Hallowe'en several boats were exchanged along the creek but Fred Williams had a good one that was taken and nothing has been seen of it since.

Jeff Bailey's crew of about thirty men, left for New Mexico on Wednesday last, where he has a large contract for putting in a stock of logs for the Lackawanna Lumber Co. They were to be joined at Olean and other points by thirty more men who were going out to work for that company. Joseph Haynes, of Sinnamahoning was with Bailey's crew. Lew Taylor, of Galeton, went down to run an engine for them.

Elmer Ellsworth Bailey, son of W. Bailey, of First Fork, died on Saturday morning, Nov. 11th, in Philadelphia of gastric fever. He was in his 38th year and leaves a wife, father, mother and three sisters to mourn his loss. At present writing funeral arrangements have not been made, but interment will probably be made at Westport, Pa. He was a graduate of Lock Haven normal school, also of the school of pharmacy. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity of Coudersport. At the time of his death he was engaged in the manufacture of the 1000 shot air gun of which he was the inventor.

You will never be able to secure such bargains in ready-made clothing again, in Cameron county, as are now being offered the public at N. Seger's.

While N. Seger is making such general reductions in the prices of ready-made clothing you will save big money by coming many miles to purchase a complete outfit for the winter. You will save more than your fare.

Senator Magee says he is not a candidate for United States Senator; that he may not vote for Senator Quay in caucus, yet he will support the nominee of that caucus, even should it be Senator Quay. Senator Magee is a Republican and not a kicker. When he goes into a convention or a contest, he always abides by the decision of the majority. He is consistent—that pays in the long run.

The "Holier than Thou" campaign, carried on by Dr. Swallow, the demagogue and convicted libeller, followed by a few second fiddles, resulted in an inglorious defeat to them. Swallow carried one county—Lackawanna—by 590 plurality. Last year he carried ten counties, his own county, Dauphin, being one of the number. This year Col. Stone snowed him under in Dauphin to the tune of 5119 votes. Good bye Brother Silas.

Lloyd's Long Range Forecast of the Weather FOR EMPORIUM AND VICINITY.

FRIDAY, - Rain.

SATURDAY, and SUNDAY, - Generally Fair.

Chilly.

Nine happy women came into our store this week and thanked us for last week's forecast of the weather for Sunday, for by it they knew on Thursday that they could wear their new coats and hats on Sunday morning, but it seems as if 999 men, women and children bounce down on us, and send cold chills up our back bone, if our forecast does not prove true, to the dotting of an i and the crossing of a t. But they were all agreed that the place to buy stationery was at Lloyd's. Our west window this week is a book-keeper's window. Blank books, memorandum books, tabs, pencils of all colors and sizes, inks of different colors, pen wipers, sponge dishes, wire trays, erasers, rulers, pens, but enough to hint of the whole, we'll leave the story of a liberal one-half of the lot untold. The showing will be a pleasant surprise when you come. A vast business is surging to this store, where the question is not how much we can get but how much we can give.

Prof. Virchow says the progress being made in studying the action of the brain assures the discovery sooner or later of how it thinks. Too many people think they are thinking when they let their thoughts wander and then assert their conclusions in a loud, strident tone.

Capt. D. C. Woodrow, of the United States navy, has in his possession the flag floated by the Virginius on its ill-fated filibustering trip to Santiago in 1873. It was taken from the vessel by the captain himself, December 26, 1873, just before the ship sank while being brought back to the United States.

Admiral Dewey has lately been much annoyed by people claiming to be acquainted with him. Recently a stranger walked up to him, extended his hand and exclaimed: "Admiral, I bet you don't remember me." Admiral Dewey, recognizing in him one of these bores, answered laconically: "You've won your bet," and walked off.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed's congressional career has had enough excitement in it to satisfy the demands of the most ardent politician. He has been elected 12 times, by majorities ranging from 117 to 10,539. His smallest majority was in the year 1880, and since then he has always instructed the barber not to give him a very close shave.

The people of Connecticut are angry because the name of that state is to be given to a monitor and not to a battleship. Yet the secretary of the navy has aimed to please them. Connecticut should be contented with its present allotment of honors. It has Yale, the Waterbury watch, raises all the finer grades of pure Havana tobacco, and is represented abroad by Mark Twain.

A prominent Spaniard, a long resident in Havana and a man of unusual observation and intelligence, attributes the strength of the United States to the strength in mind and body of the American women. He says: "Give 1,000,000 American women as wives to the young men of Spain and the nation in a quarter of a century will take its place again among the greatest nations of Europe."

One of the most remarkable races in history has ended in New York in a victory for the American bark Saranac which beat the British bark St. Mungo in a long race of 16,000 miles from the Philippines. Notwithstanding the fact that they steered different courses, the Saranac going by way of Barbados and St. Helena, and the St. Mungo by Ascension, they arrived at New York within a very few minutes of each other.

J. W. Johnson, the president of the University of Oregon, who died a short time ago, was a remarkable instance of a man who had to fight his way through the world. When he was ten years old he did not even know the alphabet, but he became seized with a desire to learn, and finally worked his way through Yale, graduating fifth in a class of 100, and attaining before his death a very prominent place in national educational circles.

Since the United States government was formed 19,000 white men, women and children have been slain in Indian wars and affrays and about 30,000 Indians, at an expense to our government of $807,073,658. To this immense sum must be added the civil expenditures of the government on behalf of the Indians, which, between 1776 and 1890, amounted to $259,944,082, making a total of $1,067,017,740 for civil and military expenses in connection with the noble red man.

MINERS ARE PROSPEROUS.

An Example of the Benefits of a Protective Tariff to Workingmen.

No better illustration of the beneficial effects of the Dingley tariff could be desired than may be had by a comparison of the financial and industrial condition of the southeast Missouri lead district now and two years ago. As is generally known, lead is the leading product of this section, and the price of this staple is a sort of barometer governing the price of all other products. As the price of lead goes up or down, the price of labor, farm products, etc., advance or decline.

Under the operation of the Wilson tariff law the price of lead was steadily hammered down until at the time of the presidential election of 1896 it was only worth about 2¾ cents per pound. At this price it was only the largest and best equipped plants that, by reason of great output, were able to continue operations without actual loss. And even this was only made possible by a system of economizing that, while cutting expenses in every other direction also, necessarily reduced the price of labor to the lowest living rate, while the amount of labor that could find employment even at these reduced rates was greatly restricted.

Lead being the basis on which every other industry rested, and from which, directly or indirectly, all others obtained the means of continuing their existence, it naturally followed that, owing to the small amount of money disbursed by the lead interest, the demand for all other products was greatly reduced, enterprise of every kind was completely paralyzed, and a condition of business stagnation that amounted to absolute financial distress existed in the lead district of southeast Missouri less than two years ago.

To realize the change that has been wrought under a republican administration in the short time it has been at the helm, one has only to open his eyes and look about him. An advance of about 30 per cent. in the price of lead has restored wages, inspired new mining enterprises, giving employment to additional labor, while the old plants are all operating to their full capacities. Large accessions have been made both to the population and permanent wealth of the district, while a feeling of security and confidence in the soundness and permanence of our present financial system pervades the whole community.

During the past eight months there have been more substantial improvements made in this place (among which I may mention a $25,000 public schoolhouse) than during any previous five years in its history. Republicans do not now have to offer arguments in vindication of their policy, it being only necessary to refer to their record and point to facts already accomplished.

In the meantime those who two years ago were near going into convulsions in contemplation of the dire calamities that they assured us would follow a republican victory are now too busy gathering in all they can of republican prosperity to say a word in vindication of their now defunct theories.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A TARIFF FOR THE PEOPLE.

The Dingley Law Has Put Money in the Pockets of Our Laborers.

A census of leading industries in 47 states and territories shows that under the Dingley law there is a great increase in wages paid to labor. The amount of wages for 1898 is 44 per cent., or $1,004,615,272 greater than in 1895. This comes home to all who were out of employment or were employed at low wages in 1895 and 1896. There was improvement as soon as it was known that Mr. McKinley was elected, and there was still greater improvement as soon as the Dingley bill became a law. A billion dollars more went into the pockets of workingmen in the last year than in 1895. If the amount paid to agricultural laborers, miners and miscellaneous workers is added, the laborers of the United States will be found to have received $2,000,000,000 more in 1898 than in 1895.

The value of the home market in the United States is 20 times the aggregate value of all our foreign markets. The Dingley law gave the Americans the advantage in the home market, yet at the same time it enabled our manufacturers to enter foreign markets to a larger extent than ever before. The exports of merchandise from the United States increased from $793,392,299 under the Wilson tariff in 1895 to $1,210,291,913 under the Dingley tariff in 1898.

When President Harrison sent his last message to congress in December, 1892, the country was at the high-water mark of prosperity. The national debt had been decreased, there was a surplus in the treasury and there was activity in every branch of industry. Under Cleveland and the Wilson tariff the national debt was increased, the treasury was depleted and industries were prostrated. Under the Dingley tariff law the surplus in the treasury increased, and when war came upon the country the money for war expenses was ready. In spite of war we continued to send American goods abroad and to receive gold in return. The Dingley law has increased our producing capacity, has put more money in the pockets of our laborers and has built up great enterprises that have given employment to thousands who, under the Wilson law, were idle. What more can the American people ask?—Chicago Inter Ocean.

LIES OF SILVERITES.

The Panic Makers Are Again at Their Old Tricks—Their Flop on the War.

A local democratic silverite paper prints some cartoons representing the republican party as disclaiming the war at its approach and claiming it after it was over. The falsity of such assertions will be apparent to every thinking man. When the proposition of war with Spain first began to be broached the great majority of the "peace at any price" men were sixteen to one bad money democrats, headed by Bryan and flanked by mugwumps. And now a sixteen to one organ has the unutterable effrontery to label its own party's unpatriotic bellowings as republican.

The value-destroying, panic-making free silver democrats at the head of the party never wanted to see Cuba freed, first, last or at any time. But the young men among the democrats, in spite of their unpatriotic leaders, joined the young republicans in insisting that Spain should be punished for its horrible perfidy in destroying the Maine, and that the Cubans should be rescued from its tyrannical, robber grasp. The whole republican party, with the president at its head, came marching rapidly up to this patriotic position, not only remaining there but progressing as events progressed.

What have the democratic leaders done in the meantime? At first they pretended to support the president in his war measures, because they were afraid of the resentment of the young democrats. But they soon saw that the war was going to table or kill their darling sixteen to one, panic-making scheme, so they ceased to support the war. Since then they have been fighting it and its supporters and howling for nothing but the bad money plank of Bryan's Chicago platform. That was the cause of their backward flop. That is where they stand.

This prating about a "republican war" is all in the talk of the partisan sixteen to one democrats. Why are they all anti-expansionists, "Col." Bryan at their head? Why are they making war on the president? Why are the bad money schemers sheering at and deriding "republican statesmanship" and offering nothing themselves but hostility and abuse? They hated the war from the word go, and they hate it now, with all its glorious results, because these things only show up the contemptible littleness of their piratical designs upon the credits and the prosperity of the nation. That is the real animus of all the democratic jealousy of the recent war.—Chicago Tribune.

GOLD ENOUGH.

Another Silverite Lie Is Nailed by the Official Report from the Mint.

The refutation of the plea of the silverites that there is not enough gold to answer the demands of the gold standard for money is found in the reports of the production of gold throughout the world.

The director of the mint has just published his report of the gold production of the United States and of the world for last year. It shows a vast increase over 1896, just as 1896 showed an increase over preceding years.

Taking the world's production, Africa leads with something over $58,000,000. The United States comes next with over $57,000,000, and Australia next with over $55,000,000. Russia leads European countries with $23,000,000. Altogether the world's output of gold for 1897 was nearly $238,000,000, which is an increase of $35,000,000 over the output of 1896, and more than twice as much as was produced in 1890.

The indications for the present year are that these figures will be surpassed and that not less than $270,000,000 will be the production for 1898.

The statistics for the United States show that Colorado has at least surpassed California as a gold state, her output being $19,000,000, as against $14,000,000 for California. South Dakota—the Black Hills region—comes next with $5,000,000, and Montana with $4,000,000. With such a production of gold the world over—one that is a permanent addition to the world's wealth—how futile it is to say that there is not gold enough to answer the demands of a monetary system founded upon it?

It may seem paradoxical to say so, but the more gold we have the less we will need it as money. The world's business is done upon paper, and all that is needed is a uniform standard for the paper. That standard is gold, and we have it in abundance.—Chicago Times-Herald.

MAJORITY OF 13.

Republicans Claim It for the Lower House of Congress.

GAINS IN THE SENATE.

They Assure Republican Control for the Next Eight Years.

CHAIRMAN BABCOCK TALKS.

He Revises His Estimate of His Party's Strength in the National Legislature—Chairman Kerr Claims a Democratic Majority in the House.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Chairman Babcock, of the republican congressional committee, believes that the republican majority in the next house will reach 13. He is convinced that the manifest drift in the west when the returns are all in will show that enough districts, now doubtful, have been carried to swell the majority to 13. Mr. Babcock says that the gains in the west are due to the desire of the people to indorse the administration and to express their satisfaction over the return of prosperity. The republicans carried five districts west of the Missouri which they hardly hoped for, but they were offset by the loss of four districts in New York and one in Massschusetts, so that Mr. Babcock's original calculations as to the result proved approximately correct.

Mr. Babcock says the public hardly realizes the full extent of the republican victory. Even more important, he says, than the fact that the next house will be republican is the sweeping change in the senate, where the fruits of Tuesday's election will give the republicans 18 majority. "That majority cannot possibly be overcome for eight years," said Mr. Babcock, "and for at least that period the business interests of the country are safe. Republican policies must prevail for that length of time. Even if the next house and the next president should be for free silver, a republican senate would block their path. Besides the majority in the senate will give us a clean working majority there for the enactment of our policies without the embarrassment that comes from narrow majorities. There need be no deals with the kickers. We will have a republican majority sufficient to work freely and what we do can be done with the knowledge that our legislation will have ample time to vindicate itself before a hostile senate can be lected to upset it."

Late in the afternoon Chairman Babcock completed a list of the representatives elected to the Fifty-sixth congress. The latest authentic advices received by the republican committee indicate that two districts are in doubt yet, viz., the Second California and the Twefth Texas. In both, however, Mr. Babcock concedes that the chances are favorable to the democrats. Mr. Babcock's figures show the election of 185 straight republicans, 163 democrats, six populists and one silver republican. These figures do not include the two doubtful districts mentioned. Conceding these two districts to the democrats, as a means of reaching definite results, Mr. Babcock claims a certain majority of 13 over all opposition.

Little information of a definite nature was received by the democratic congressional committee last night. Secretary Kerr maintained that the opposition to the republicans would organize and control the next house. His figures indicated that the opposition would have at least 180 votes and perhaps 181.

QUAY IS A CANDIDATE.

He Announces His Intention to Run Again for Re-election to the Senate.

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—Senator Quay last night announced his candidacy for re-election to his present office. He said:

"All of my friends have been aware of my personal apathy to another term in the senate, but those prominent in the late crusade against the republican state and legislative candidates chose to force the issue. They have made it imperative that I shall be a candidate for re-election. The gauge of battle is accepted. The result is in the hands of the republican members of the incoming legislature, a very large proportion of whom are my political and personal friends. Throughout the campaign just closed enormous sums of money were used to defeat republican legislative candidates. I have no doubt efforts will be made to tamper with some of the members-elect, but they will not be successful. The attempt to purchase the United States senatorship two years ago did not succeed then, nor will a similar attempt succeed now, bargain counter methods having been repudiated by the people of the state."

Senator Quay then offers a reward of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any one endeavoring to bribe any state senator or representative elect, the money being on deposit with his bankers.

TOLBERT ASKS FOR AID.

He Appeals to the President for Protection—Tells His Story of the Race War in South Carolina.

Washington, Nov. 12.—R. R. Tolbert, whose father and brother were shot in the recent race war at Phœnix, S. C., was at the White House and department of justice Friday to secure an investigation of the riot and protection by the federal authorities. He was accompanied by some of the republican politicians of the state. President McKinley did not make any promise in reply to Tolbert's appeal.

Mr. Tolbert says that the true facts of the rioting have not been given. The facts are, he said, as follows: "I was nominated for congress by the republicans of my district. For the purpose of making a contest before the house my brother, T. P. Tolbert, was present at the polling places at Phœnix for the purpose of witnessing the affidavits of colored men who were rejected as voters because of their inability to comply with the requirements of the constitution. My brother took no part in the management of the polling place, which was in the hands of democrats. He sat on the piazza of Mr. Lake's house and witnessed the affidavits given him, depositing these affidavits in a box.

"Mr. Ethridge, the white man who was killed, was an election manager at a precinct two miles away. He left his precinct and with a party of men went to Phœnix. He walked up with his party to where my brother was sitting at a table and kicked over the table and box in which were the certificates. Then he assaulted my brother. Then democrat voters who were in the same house rushed out and commenced shooting into the crowd. The negroes fled. My brother told me that Ethridge was killed by shots from his own friends. My brother did not have a weapon."

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 12.—Tom Tolbert, who was so badly wounded in the original encounter at Phœnix, is now at Abbeyville and his death is exected at any time. Collector John R. Tolbert is still here at the state prison with his son. Unless some complications occur it is expected that he will soon recover. There were 30 birdshot in his head and 27 duck shot in his body.

Elected a Fusionist Governor.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 12.—The election of governor has been in doubt until last evening, when official returns were received from several counties which showed big changes in favor of Lee. The legislature is republican in both branches.

CLUMSYBY'S LACK OF TACT.

He Had a Philosophic Method of Turning This Lack to His Own Account.

"One of the things that have been most helpful to me in the course of my life," said Mr. Clumsyby, "has been my lack of tact. This may seem like a contradiction, but it is really very simple.

"I have always fancied that I could attend to business for other people all right, but I never had any tact about my own; that is, about my personal relations with people; I always bungle them whenever I attempt to do anything. Thus, if I have a misunderstanding or difference with anybody about anything and I set about straightening it out, I can't possibly do it except in one way; I have to go at it flat-footed; I haven't any more diplomacy than a stone image. And, moreover, besides being clumsy about it, I am pretty sure to say too much; to say things that it isn't necessary to say. In other words, I haven't any tact at all.

"And at first this was a great drawback to me. But after awhile I made a discovery; that if I didn't exercise my tact I shouldn't make any mistakes by it, and, following that course for a time, I came to a realization of the fact that there's a great lot of things that we run up against in life which may be irritating at the time, that are, however, not worth squabbling over at all, whether a man's got tact or not, and I was sure to make a mess of these things if I tried to do anything about them, why, I don't try; I simply let 'em go!

"And that's what I've been doing now for years, not bothering about every little trifle, but letting the little things go, and not bothering about 'em at all; paying no attention to them whatsoever. And so I have been enabled to preserve my equanimity and avoid all useless wear and tear; and thus my lack of tact has finally proved most helpful to me.

"But I have to keep a watch all the time."—N. Y. Sun.

ELECTION RESULTS

Question of Control of the House of Representatives is Undecided.

Both Parties Claim to Have a Majority in That Branch of Congress.

The Senate Will be Controlled by the Republicans.

Col. Roosevelt is Elected Governor of New York State by 21,000 Plurality Over Van Wyck.

Republicans Win by Large Majorities in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and the New England States.

Washington, Nov. 10. — Chairman Babcock, of the republican congressional committee, said last evening that the house of representatives of the Fifty-sixth congress would be republican without doubt. Throughout the day and evening a corps of political statisticians was at work in the republican headquarters compiling and analyzing the returns. In a statement to the press Chairman Babcock said:

"There can be no longer any reasonable argument over the political complexion of the next house. It will be republican beyond the shadow of a doubt. Our advices show the certain election of 185 republicans, six more than enough to give us control. These are straight republicans and our majority will be over the combined opposition. Our information induces us to place nine districts in doubt. These are the Seventh in California, the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Nebraska, Seventeenth, Nineteenth and Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania and Twelfth Texas. We are reasonably certain to get some of these. Without them, however, we have a clear majority and are resting perfectly easy. The Sixth Iowa, which was in doubt for a time, has certainly elected Representative Lacey, a republican. In Kentucky we have elected not only Seitz in the Tenth district, but Pugh in the Ninth. In Kansas we have a solid delegation.

"In Maryland we concede the defeat of Jackson in the First district and McIntyre in the Fourth. Minnesota returns a solid republican delegation, Morris having defeated Towne in the Sixth district. In Massachusetts we concede the election of democrats in the Third, Ninth and Tenth. According to our advices the delegation from New York will stand 15 republicans to 19 democrats. In North Carolina we claim the election of White in the Second district and Linney in the Eighth, but we may be counted out in both of them. In Pennsylvania the delegation stands 20 republicans, 7 democrats and 3 doubtful. Texas 1 republican, 11 democrats and 1 doubtful, and in West Virginia we carried the First, Second and Fourth districts, while the opposition carried the Third. From our view point that is the situation as it is to-night."

At the headquarters of the democratic congressional committee confidence is expressed that the democrats will control the next house. Secretary Kerr will not concede many of the claims made by Chairman Babcock and says that in a large number of districts it will require the official count to determine definitely the result.

"It seems certain," said Mr. Kerr, "that we have elected 183 members of the next house, the republicans 163 and that 11 districts are in doubt. In New York we will have 21 members; in Pennsylvania nine and perhaps ten; in Kansas four at least, and perhaps five; in Nebraska four; in North Carolina nine, and in California two or three. Information is slow in coming in, because the count in so many of the districts is very close. Our figures are based upon definite returns and I am satisfied that they are entirely accurate."

The election returns establish with certainty that the United States senate will have a republican majority after March 4 next.

NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 9.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, the republican party's nominee for governor, has carried this state by a plurality over Augustus Van Wyck of about 20,000. The total republican vote when received will probably show a falling off, as compared with that for Gov. Black in 1896, of about 14 per cent. In the municipality of New York Judge Van Wyck's majority is 80,000 over the republican candidate. This latter result was helped in some measure by the result in the borough of Brooklyn (Kings county) which in 1896 gave Black a plurality of 23,682, but yesterday gave a democratic plurality of about 16,830. Brooklyn is the home of Judge Van Wyck, but this fact does not wholly explain the practical reversal of pluralities, which, it is possible, is attributable to the lukewarmness of the friends of Jacob Worth, who was deposed from the chairmanship of the county committee as a consequence of his opposition to the plans of Senator Platt in the mayoralty contest last year.

A republican legislature will mean the election of a republican to the United States senate in place of Senator Murphy.

The following congressmen have been elected in New York state:

First district — Joseph M. Belford, rep.
Second—John J. Fitzgerald, dem.
Third—William A. Pendergast, rep.
Fourth—B. T. Clayton, dem.
Fifth—Charles G. Bennett, rep.
Sixth—Mitchell May, dem.
Seventh—Nicholas Muller, dem.
Eighth—E. J. Riordan, dem.
Ninth—Thomas J. Bradley, dem.
Tenth—Amos J. Cummings, dem.
Eleventh—William Sulter, dem.
Twelfth—George B. McClellan, dem.
Thirteenth—J. M. Levy, dem.
Fourteenth—W. A. Chanler, dem.
Fifteenth—Jacob Ruppert, jr., dem.
Sixteenth—John Quincy Underhill, dem.
Seventeenth—A. S. Tompkins, rep.
Eighteenth—John H. Ketcham, rep.
Nineteenth—J. H. Livingston, dem.
Twentieth—M. H. Glynn, dem.
Twenty-first—J. H. Stewart, rep.
Twenty-second—Lucis Littaur, rep.
Twenty-third—L. W. Emerson, rep.
Twenty-fourth—C. A. Chickering, rep.
Twenty-fifth—James S. Sherman, rep.
Twenty-sixth—George R. Ray, rep.
Twenty-seventh—M. Driscoll, rep.
Twenty-eighth—Sereno E. Payne, rep
Twenty-ninth—Charles W. Gillett, rep.
Thirtieth—James W. Wadsworth, rep.
Thirty-first—J. M. E. O'Grady, rep.
Thirty-second — William H. Ryan, dem.
Thirty-third—E. S. Alexander, rep.
Thirty-fourth—Warren B. Hooker, rep.

The borough of Brooklyn complete gives Roosevelt 82,299, Van Wyck 99,085.

Syracuse—Syracuse city complete gives Roosevelt 11,179, Van Wyck 8,535; Roosevelt's plurality 2,644.

Jamestown, Nov. 9.—Jamestown city complete gives Roosevelt 2,920, Van Wyck 933.

Rochester, Nov. 9.—Complete returns from this city give Roosevelt 14,289, Van Wyck 13,744; majority for Roosevelt 545.

Ithaca—Ithaca complete gives Roosevelt 1,587, Van Wyck 1,256.

Tompkins county complete gives Roosevelt 4,514, Van Wyck 3,074.

Buffalo.—It is estimated that Erie county will give 3,000 plurality for Van Wyck.

Binghampton.—This city gives Roosevelt 4,727, Van Wyck 3,448, a plurality for Roosevelt of 1,279.

Watertown.—Roosevelt's plurality in the city as corrected is 877.

New York, Nov. 10.—The latest figures obtainable show that Roosevelt's plurality is not far from 20,000. Only ten counties in the state gave Van Wyck pluralities and they were all localiiies swayed by cities, as New York, Kings, Queens and Erie. The democratic plurality in Greater New York was 82,203. The falling off in Roosevelt's plurality as compared with Black's in 1896 is due to a decrease in the republican vote up the state of 61,000 and in Greater New York of 62,000. Against this Van Wyck gained 20,000 above the Harlem and 53,000 below it, as compared with Porter two years ago.

The result on congressmen in this state seems to have surprised even the democrats themselves. Nineteen of their candidates were elected, the republicans getting but 15. In the present house the New York delegation stands 27 republicans to six democrats. In Greater New York all the democratic candidates were elected.

After the gubernatorial contest as much interest was taken in the state legislature as in anything else. The state senate will be republican by four and the assembly by 20.

Corrected returns show Roosevelt's plurality outside of Greater New York to be 107,736. Van Wyck's pluralities in Albany, Chemung, Clinton, Erie, Rensselaer and Schoharie counties and Greater New York foot up 86,450. Roosevelt's plurality 21,286.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Nov. 9.—After a canvass without state issues and confined almost entirely to four congressional districts and a few local districts, the republicans have again carried Massachusetts and elected Roger Wolcott governor for the fourth time, as well as the entire state ticket by a safe majority.

Boston, Nov. 10.—The total vote for governor was: Wolcott, rep., 190,246; Bruce, dem., 106,898; republican majority 83,345.

NEW JERSEY.

Trenton, Nov. 9.—New Jersey has been carried by the republicans and Foster M. Voorhees, the republican candidate, is elected governor by about 12,000 plurality. Essex county, which was concededly the fighting ground of both parties, has gone republican by about 5,000 and both houses of the legislature will be republican. This will insure the election of a republican to succeed James Smith, dem., in the United States senate. Ex-Congressman John Kean is conceded to be the choice of the republicans as Senator Smith's successor. The democrats have elected two of the eight congressmen.

Trenton, Nov. 10.—The New Jersey returns, with a few districts missing, show a plurality for Voorhees, republican candidate for governor, of 5,002.

The New Jersey legislature will stand exactly as it did last year. On joint ballot the republicans will have 51 votes against total democratic of 30.

COLORADO.

Denver, Nov. 10.—The entire fusion state ticket, headed by Charles S. Thomas, dem., for governor, is elected by a majority approximating 50,000. This is by far the largest majority ever given a candidate for governor in Colorado, but is less than half of Bryan's majority for president. Arapahoe county, including Denver, gave about 10,000 fusion majority. The fusionists have an overwhelming majority in the legislature.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo, Nov. 10.—Returns from the state swell the republican majority. Spalding, rep., for congress will probably have a majority of 5,000 and the remainder of the ticket 500 less. Twenty-one out of 31 state senators are sure republican, while in the house 54 republicans are elected out of 62. This gives the republicans 56 majority on joint ballot, making a republican successor to Senator Roach certain.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Harrisburg, Nov. 9.—The vote in the Pennsylvania regiments at Camp Meade was as follows:

Fourth regiment—Stone 226, Jenks 124, Swallow 10.

Fifth regiment—Stone 151, Jenks 147, Swallow 55.

The following named congressmen have been elected in Pennsylvania:

First district—H. H. Bingham, rep.
Second—Robert Adams, jr., rep.
Third—William McAleer, dem.
Fourth—James R. Young, rep.
Fifth—A. C. Harmer, rep.
Sixth—Thomas S. Butler, rep.
Seventh—Irving P. Wagner, rep.
Eighth—Laird H. Barber, dem.
Ninth—Daniel Ermentrout, dem.
Tenth—Marriott Brosius, rep.
Twelfth — Stanley W. Davenport, dem.
Thirteenth—James W. Ryan, dem.
Fourteenth — Martin E. Olmstead, rep.
Fifteenth—Charles F. Wright, rep.
Sixteenth—Horace B. Packer, rep.
Seventeenth—Rufus K. Polk, dem.
Eighteenth—Thaddeus M. Mahon, rep.
Twentieth—Joseph W. W. Thropp, rep.
Twenty-first—Summers M. Sack, rep.
Twenty-second—John Dalzell, rep.
Twenty-third—William H. Graham, rep.
Twenty-fourth—Ernest F. Acheson, rep.
Twenty-fifth—J. B. Showalter, rep.
Twenty-sixth district—Geo. H. Huggins, rep.
Twenty-seventh district—J. C. Sibley, dem.
Twenty-eighth—J. K. Hall, dem.
Congressmen-at-large — Galusha A. Grow and Samuel. A. Davenport, both republicans.

Latest legislative returns from the state thus far received show democratic and fusionist net gains of 13 in the assembly. Districts not yet heard from will probably elect 10 or 15 democrats to seats now held by republicans. The Quay leaders claim that a majority of the republicans elected will favor the re-election of the senator.

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—The delegation from Pennsylvania in the next congress will comprise 21 republicans and nine democrats, a democratic gain of six. The present delegation is composed of 27 republicans and three democrats. The districts gained by the democrats are the Eighth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Seventeenth, Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth. In each of these districts except the Seventeenth the present republican representative was a candidate for re-election. William McAleer, who was re-elected from the Third district, is a sound money democrat and the republicans made no nomination against him.

The complete vote of the state, with four counties missing, gives Stone, rep., 455,782; Jenks, dem., 333,783; Swallow, prohibition and honest government, 124,437, a plurality for Stone of 122,089, which will be increased to about 125,000 by the complete returns. The total vote in the state will approximate 950,000.

NEBRASKA.

Lincoln, Nov. 10.—Returns by counties indicate a scaling off of republican gains, making the state ticket in doubt, and so close that the official count may be required. The legislature is republican on joint ballot, but Senator Allen will not concede it. Secretary Thompson, of the fusion state committee, concedes the election of republican congressmen in the First and Second districts, but claims the other four, admitting that the Fourth and Fifth are close. On the state ticket and legislature he said: "The result is in doubt and may not be known until the official count is made."

Chairman Schneider, of the republican committee, said he could see no reason to materially change his previous estimate of 3,000 to 5,000 for state ticket. The legislature, he said, was republican sure.

OHIO.

Columbus, Nov. 10.—The only continued interest in the election returns are those in the Third and Seventh congressional districts. It is believed that the republicans elect Weaver in the Seventh by 71 plurality and the democrats re-elect Brenner in the Third by 87, which leaves the Ohio list of congressmen 15 republicans and 6 democrats. The official count is not expected to change these close results.

Unofficial returns from all but one county make the plurality of Kinney, rep., for secretary of state, 59,000.

The Ohio congressional delegation remains the same as at present, 15 to 6, each party carrying precisely the same districts as at the presidential election two years ago, as follows:

First district—W. B. Shattuc, rep.
Second—J. H. Bromwell, rep.
Third—John L. Brenner, dem.
Fourth—R. B. Gordon, dem.
Fifth—David Meekison, dem.
Sixth—Seth W. Brown, rep.
Seventh—Walter L. Weaver, rep.
Eighth—Archibald Lybrand, rep.
Ninth—James H. Southard, rep.
Tenth—Stephen R. Morgan, rep.
Eleventh—Charles H. Grosvenor, rep.
Twelfth—John J. Lentz, dem.
Thirteenth—James A. Norton, dem.
Fourteenth—Winfield S. Kerr, rep.
Fifteenth—Henry C. Van Voorhis, rep.
Sixteenth—Lorenzo Danford, rep.
Seventeenth—John Anderson McDowell, dem.
Eighteenth—Robert W. Tayler, rep.
Nineteenth—Charles Dick, rep.
Twentieth—F. O. Phillips, rep.
Twenty-first—Theodore Burton, rep.

Kinney, rep., for secretary of state carried Columbus by about 2,200

Canton, Nov. 9.—Twenty-six precincts in Canton and Stark county show a net republican gain of 218 over last year. The same ratios maintained would give the republicans the county by 1,600. McKinley in 1896 carried the county by 850.

Republicans carry Canton on head of ticket by 484, a gain of 100 over last year. Republicans elect complete county ticket.

Cincinnati, Nov. 9.—149 precincts of Hamilton county show an average republican gain of 50 to a precinct. This indicates a republican majority in the county of from 12,000 to 15,000.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Five and probably six congressmen have been gained in Illinois by the democrats and the congressional delegation from this state is likely to be evenly divided, 11 democrats and 11 republicans. It is possible for the republicans to have 12 of the 22 congressmen, as all the returns are not yet in, but the indications are for an even split on the delegation.

The entire republican state ticket is elected by about 25,000 plurality. In Cook county the vote has been very close, the republicans carrying the county and the democrats the city of Chicago. The democratic plurality in the city is about 3,000 and the republican plurality about the same in the county.

DELAWARE.

Wilmington, Nov. 9.—Partial returns indicate that the republicans have elected their state, congressional and legislative tickets. This estimate, if verified by the full returns, indicates the election of a republican successor to United States Senator Gray and a gain of one republican congressman.

WEST VIRGINIA.

Charleston, Nov. 10.—Johnston, dem., for congress, is elected in the Third district and Freer, rep., in the Fourth. The First and Second districts are still in doubt, with chances favoring the election of Dovener, rep., in the First and McGraw, dem., in the Second. The state senate will be republican and the lower house democratic, with probably a democratic majority of two on joint ballot for a successor to Senator Faulkner.

KANSAS.

Topeka, Nov. 10.—The latest returns indicate that the plurality of Stanley, republican candidate for governor, will probably reach 13,000. Taylor Riddle, the populist state chairman, practically concedes the defeat of Vincent for congress in the Fifth and of Jerry Simpson in the Seventh. The republican leaders claim that Chester I. Long has defeated Simpson in the Seventh and that W. A. Calderhead has defeated Congressman Vincent in the Fifth. If these claims prove correct, Edwin Ridgley, of the Third district, will be the only populist congressman from Kansas.

The republicans elect two state senators, which gives them 11 members in that body. They also elect 97 representatives out of 125. This gives them a majority of 52 on joint ballot in the legislature.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sioux Falls, Nov. 10.—Almost complete returns from the state give Phillips, rep., for governor, a majority of 1,200. Gamble, rep., is elected to congress by 4,000 and Burke, rep., by 3,500. The entire state republican ticket is elected. The legislature will have a repbulican majority.

MICHIGAN.

Detroit, Nov. 10.—According to more complete returns Gov. Pingree's plurality will reach about 70,000. This will be a proportionate increase over his plurality of 83,400 of two years ago, the vote cast having been about a fourth smaller this year. The republicans have elected a solid delegation of 12 congressmen by majorities ranging from 1,100 for Corliss in the First district to 11,000 for Sheldon in the Twelfth, upper peninsula district. The democrats will have a dozen senators and representatives in the legislature, about equally divided between the two houses. Senator Burrows' re-election now seems absolutely assured, notwithstanding Gov. Pingree strongly favors the candidacy of Albert Pack. Pingree's railroad taxation measures are regarded as certain of enactment.

The following congressmen are elected:

First district—John B. Corliss, rep.
Second—Henry C. Smith, rep.
Third—Washington Gardner, rep.
Fourth—Edward L. Hamilton, rep.
Fifth—William Alden Smith, rep.
Sixth—Samuel W. Smith, rep.
Seventh—Edgar A. Weeks, rep.
Eighth—J. W. Fordney, rep.
Ninth—Roswell P. Bishop, rep.
Tenth—Rosseau O. Crump, rep.
Eleventh—W. S. Mesick, rep.
Twelfth—Charles D. Sheldon, rep.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Nov. 9.—Chairman Cook claims the election of the entire democratic state ticket by a plurality of 35,000, the election of 13 and possibly 14 congressmen and the return of a safe majority to the legislature, ensuring the re-election of Senator Cockrell.

St. Louis, Nov. 10.—It is conceded by the republicans that John Dougherty, dem., has been elected in the Third congressional district, James Cooney in the Seventh district and Edward S. Robb, dem., in the Thirteenth district. There is still some doubt about the Fourteenth district. George M. Miley, rep., in that district does not yet concede his defeat by the election of W. D. Vandiver, dem. This doubt is based on the fact that a number of western counties in the district have not yet been heard from. The general belief of the republicans is, however, that Vandiver is elected. This being true the democrats have elected 12 congressmen and the republicans three. Richard P. Bland, dem., won in the Eighth district by a majority of 3,000.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, Nov. 10.—The latest returns from the Second congressional district give Herman B. Dahle, rep., 1,000 majority over James E. Jones, dem., thus insuring a solid republican congressional delegation from Wisconsin. Later state returns swell Gov. Scofield's plurality to 41,000.

MONTANA.

Helena, Nov. 9.—Late returns make sure the election of A. J. Campbell, dem., to congress by a plurality of several thousand. The legislature will be democratic.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Columbia, Nov. 9.—The democratic state ticket was elected without opposition. A very light vote was cast,

MINNESOTA.

St. Paul, Nov. 10.—Indications are that Lind, fusion, will have over 5,000 and possibly over 10,000 plurality. Republicans elect the balance of the state ticket except supreme court judges, two of whom are democrats. It is now practically certain that Page Morris, rep., is re-elected in the Sixth district, making a solid republican delegation from Minnesota.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—Less than half of the vote of California has been counted; 1,111 complete precincts out of 2,407 give Gage, rep., for governor 9,540 plurality. At this rate his vote will be 20,000 in excess of Maguire. It is reasonably sure also that the republicans have carried the rest of the state ticket, with the exception perhaps of secretary of state and two judges of the supreme court. The vote on these is close, with the chances in favor of the democratic candidates. It is certain that the republicans have gained at least two congressmen. The legislature is republican.

UTAH.

Salt Lake, Nov. 9.—Tickets are badly scratched and returns are slow. At 1 o'clock this morning returns from 24 precincts in city and state give Roberts, dem., for congress, 923; Eldredge, rep., 767; Zane, rep., for judge, 788; Baskin, dem., 878.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Raleigh, Nov. 10.—Later returns indicate that the democrats have elected all nine of their congressmen, 44 out of 50 state senators, 95 out of 120 representatives and the state judicial ticket by 30,000.

VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Nov. 10.—Virginia will send a solid democratic delegation to congress. All the ten democratic nominees have been elected.

CONNECTICUT.

New Haven, Nov. 9.—Connecticut elects the republican state ticket, three republican congressmen and probably four. The republicans claim the state by 15,000 plurality. The legislature is republican by a considerable majority.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Concord, Nov. 9.—Thirty-five towns and wards in the state give Rollins, rep., for governor 4,034; Stone, dem., 3,001. It is estimated that Rollins' majority in the state will exceed 10,000. The republicans carry the legislature.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence, Nov. 9.—Congress: First district, Melville Bull, rep., elected; Second district, Adin B. Capron, rep., elected.

INDIANA.

Indianapolis, Nov. 10.—Late advices indicate the following congressional results in Indiana:

First district—J. A. Hemenway, rep.
Second—Robert W. Miers, dem.
Third—W. T. Senor, dem.
Fourth—F. M. Griffin, dem.
Fifth—In doubt.
Sixth—James A. Watson, rep.
Seventh—Jesse Overstreet, rep.
Eighth—George W. Cromer, rep.
Ninth—C. B. Landis, rep.
Tenth—E. D. Crumpacker, rep.
Eleventh—George W. Steele, rep.
Twelfth—Dr. C. B. Stevens, rep.
Thirteenth—A. L. Brick, rep.

The Fifth district is claimed by both Hamill, dem., and Faris, rep., for congress. It will require a recount to determine the contest. The vote is almost a tie.

The republicans have carried Indiana by a majority of between 15,000 and 20,000. Chairman Martin, of the democratic state committee, figuring last night upon official and estimated returns from all but three of the 92 counties, conceded a republican plurality of 14,500. He states that the democrats have made a net gain over the presidential vote of 1896 of 1,862. Later returns may change the present indicated result by from 2,000 to 5,000. The republicans claim the state by 20,000.

The legislature will be republican and they will have a majority of 18 on joint ballot, which means the election of a republican to the United States senate to succeed Mr. Turpie.

FLORIDA.

Jacksonville, Nov. 9.—The vote, judging from returns now in, is from 10 to 20 per cent. lighter for both parties than in 1896. The whole democratic ticket is elected. The light vote is due to the feeble resistance offered. The constitutional amendments requiring that bonds of state officers be in sound surety and guarantee companies are carried overwhelmingly. The republicans and populists will not elect altogether five members of the legislature, if that many.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore, Nov. 9.—Returns from more than two-thirds of the city indicate the election of McIntyre, rep., in the Fourth district and Wachter, rep., in the Third. The election of Mudd, rep., in the Fifth and Baker, rep., in the Second seems probable. In the Sixth district George A. Pearre, rep., is elected.

Full returns from the city of Baltimore and partial returns from the balance of the state, make it reasonably certain that Maryland has returned four republican and two democratic congressmen.

MISSISSIPPI.

Jackson, Nov. 9.—Mississippi congressional results:

First district—John M. Allen, dem., elected.
Second — Thomas Spight, dem., elected.
Third—Thomas C. Catchings, dem., elected.
Fourth — Andrew F. Fox, dem., elected.
Fifth — John S. Williams, dem., elected.
Seventh — Patrick Henry, dem., elected.

TEXAS.

Austin, Nov. 9.—Scattering reports indicate that the state democratic ticket will be elected by a large majority.

TENNESSEE.

Nashville, Nov. 10.—Complete and partial returns from 84 out of 96 counties give McMillin, dem., an estimated majority of 38,000 for governor. These figures will, however, be reduced by full returns and it seems that his majority will be between 25,000 and 30,000.

IOWA.

Des Moines, Nov. 10.—It is estimated that the republican plurality on the state ticket will be about 45,000. Returns do not show a single democratic congressman elected.

NEVADA.

Reno, Nov. 9.—Indications point to the election of McMillen, rep., for governor, and Newlands, silver, for congress.

KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Nov. 10.—Five republican congressional nominees wired the Louisville Commercial last night that they would contest the election on account of the Goebel election laws. Pugh in the Ninth district has signified his intention of contesting if an investigation satisfies him that he is elected.

ALABAMA.

Birmingham, Nov. 9.—Returns indicate the election of every democratic congressman in the state. Vote exceedingly light in all districts except the Fourth and Seventh.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, Nov. 9.—Reports received assure the election of six democratic congressmen from Louisiana.

WASHINGTON.

Seattle, Nov. 10.—Returns from the state of Washington are incomplete, but enough are at hand to make it certain that the republicans have overcome the fusion majority of 12,000 two years ago and elect both congressmen and two supreme court justices by a majority of at least 3,000. Later returns will, it is thought, increase rather than decrease this estimate. The legislature, which will elect a United States senator, will be republican on joint ballot by at least 40 out of a membership of 112.

WYOMING.

Cheyenne, Nov. 10.—There appears to be no reason to change the estimates of the republican state chairman except that the republican majority in the state will increase. This is indicated by surprising returns from new precincts.

NEW MEXICO.

Santa Fe, Nov. 10.—Pedro Perea, rep., is elected by from 1,200 to 2,000 majority over Fergusson, dem. The democrats concede Perea's election, but claim the majority is smaller. Both houses of the legislature are republican.

IDAHO.

Boise, Nov. 10.—Only 47 precincts in the state, embracing one-eighth of the vote, have reported. They give Moss, rep., for governor 2,012, Steinenberg, dem., 3,083; Anderson, pop, 557.

ARIZONA.

Phœnix, Nov. 10.—In Arizona for delegate to congress the republicans concede the election of Wilson, dem., by 300.

OKLAHOMA.

Guthrie, Nov. 10.—Dennis T. Flynn, rep., is elected delegate to congress by probably 6,000 plurality. Both branches of the territorial legislature are safely republican, and the republicans claim to have elected their local tickets in a majority of the counties.

Points of View.

"How people misjudge one another in this life!" exclaimed the philosopher.

"Yes," answered Mrs. Brokington. "I can't rid myself of an idea that the bill collector gets a great deal of fun out of coming here and bothering me about money. And I don't doubt he regards me as a person who has nothing to do except to sit in luxury and tell people to call again."—Washington Star.

No Chance for a Conflict There.

"A conflict of arms," he said, "is a terrible thing."

"Of course," she replied, blushing prettily; "and so inexcusable, too. I hold that the disposition a man makes of his arms is none of a girl's business."

After that, of course, there was no chance for a conflict.—Chicago Post.

He Couldn't Understand It.

"Pa," said the alderman's little son, "is there any truth in the story that George Washington never told a lie?"

"Yes, I guess there is," was the reply.

"Well," continued the embryo statesman, "I don't see how he ever got his pull in politics."—Chicago Daily News.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Swallow's vote in Cameron county last year was 214. This year the crank only had 149 followers.

A dispatch in a morning paper from Jamestown, announces that "an outbreak of hydrophobia has broken out among the dogs" and "extends to some extent" among the cattle in Warren county, this State. Possibly some connection between this altogether remarkable announcement and the defeat of Congressman C. W. Stone, may be traced by the curious.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Democratic Opportunity.

Crawford county was, only a few years ago, one of the most reliable Republican counties in the State. In early days it was strongly impregnated with the anti-slavery sentiment and one of the "underground railways" which transported the runaway slave from bondage to freedom ran through Meadville and that town harbored the unfortunate creatures. The early Huidekoper, Dick, Church, Richmond and other families of that town were among the leading, most intelligent and high-toned of any in northwestern Pennsylvania and the refining influence which went out from their surroundings was felt in every nook and corner of Crawford county. When the great break-up in political parties came which was caused by the Southern rebellion and the war following it, Crawford lined up among the staunch Republican counties of the country. Up to to the time that Joseph C. Sibley began his populistic career and branched out for Congress, Crawford county was as certain to give from 1500 to 3000 Republican majority, according to the importance of the election, as election day was to come. Six years ago he concocted a scheme to be called as a candidate for Congress in the Erie-Crawford district by a lot of Republican malcontents, the same game which he played in this district this fall. He "reluctantly" consented to run, just as he did here. Following the inauguration of his campaign came the prostitution and debauchery of a people such as was never before witnessed in this section of the country. Newspapers were bought to sing his praises and whole communities were purchased like so many sheep to blat for "Honest Joe." In that campaign he defeated Dr. T. L. Flood, a brilliant man and an estimable gentleman. In the next Congressional fight he was defeated by Matthew Griswold, of Erie, and two years later by John C. Sturtevant, of Conneautville. In both contests the large majority he received in Crawford was overcome in Erie county.

What has been the the result of this man's influence in Crawford county? It has become irredeemably Democratic. The last Legislature contained a solid delegation of Democrats in the lower House and this year another delegation of similar character is elected over three of the most worthy men in that county. A Democratic Congressman is elected in the 26th district because the Democratic vote of Crawford exceeds the Republican vote of Erie by 18. And this cannot be attributed to Mr. Sibley being a factor in that fight, for he was not, only as the influences of the past might be felt. The Democrat elected is a Mr. Gaston, of Meadville, a man of mediocre abilities. Instead of Crawford county being classed among the Republican counties of the State it must hereafter take its place in the Democratic column as good for a thousand majority. Mr. Sibley transferred his operations to the 27th district this year and no sooner was it known that he contemplated doing so, than the ears of every deadbeat, every man whose principles are for sale to the highest bidder, every man who has no confirmed principles on any subject and every man who has no business but politics, were thrown wide open to hear how much he could grab of the swag.—Kane Republican.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters, and to my great joy and enrprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c. at L. Taggart's drug store.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14th, 1898.

President McKinley is still receiving congratulations, by mail, from every section of the country on the indorsement given him and his administration—one of the most remarkable indorsements ever given to any President in the middle of his administration—by the voters of the country. The big head is an affliction unknown to him, but the President is naturally proud of the confidence in him, which the re-election of a Republican majority in the House and the election of State Legislatures, which insure a big Republican majority in the Senate, expressed, and anxious that his future policy in connection with our newly acquired territory and his recommendations to Congress, shall be of such a nature as to merit a continuance of that confidence. If a conscientious desire to do the right thing for the country will enable him to do it, he will succeed.

Having failed in the election, the Democrats have returned to their old occupation of trying to create dissension among the victorious Republicans. They are circulating stories to the effect that friends of the President are trying to prevent Speaker Reed being re-elected Speaker of the next House. There is not a word of truth in the stories, and it is as certain as anything in the future can be that Mr. Reed will be Speaker of the next House, unless he declines to be.

At the last meeting of the Cabinet, the American Peace Commissioners at Paris, were instructed to notify the Spanish Commissioners that this government would call time on them if they did not hurry up and get down to business on our demand for the Philippines—a demand that is unalterable and which must be either accepted or refused, regardless of what any other government may do or threaten to do. In other words, Spain must understand that European interference, even if it could be brought about, would not change the policy of this government one iota.

While President McKinley will, under no circumstances, attempt to interfere with the selection of Senators by any of the Republican State Legislatures, there isn't the slightest doubt that Representative Babcock, of Wisconsin, who, as Chairman of the Republicon Congressional Campaign Committee, has made a new record that is not likely to be broken, by electing a Republican majority of the House at three consecutive Congressional elections, will have his best wishes in his campaign for election to the Senate. This is not because of any objection to either of the other able Republicans who are candidates for the Senate, but because President McKinley thinks that Mr. Babcock's work for the party has given him a claim upon the highest honors at the disposal of the Republicans of Wisconsin.

Adjutant General Corbin, in his annual report, refers to existing law which prevents the enlistment in the army of persons not citizens of the United States, and says: "The new conditions will, however, make a modification of this statute desirable, to the end that the enlistment of from one company to a batallion of natives for each regiment serving in Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines may be authorized. The advantage of this is too obvious for discussion."

According to the annual report of Commissioner-General T. V. Powderly, just made public, the total number of immigrants to the United States, during the last fiscal year, was 229,299, being 1,533 fewer than came during the previous year. During the year 3,080, who were undesirable, from one cause or another, principally pauperism, were debarred. Mr. Powderly recommends that the head tax be increased from $1 to $2, to provide a fund to "enlarge the bureau's operations to its full capacity for usefulness in protecting American citizens from disease, tax-payers from the imposition of unjust burdens, and the hospitals, charitable and penal institutions of the country from demoralization by the corrupt citizens of other countries."

Representative Sherman and other New York Republicans who have been in Washington since the election appear to think that Hon. Chauncey M. Depew will be the Republican elected to succeed Senator Murphy, unless there is a great change in party sentiment before the Legislature meets.

Admiral Schley, who was one of our Military Commissioners charged with the duty of arranging for the evacuation of Porto Rico, is in Washington. He brought a full report of the work of himself and colleagues in Porto Rico, with him, and it is now in the hands of the President. He refuses to discuss any of the numerous sensational stories dealing with the relations, both personal and official, between himself and Admiral Sampson, but has expressed an ardent desire to get hold of the man who started the story that he was a Democrat. He says that as a Naval Officer he has no politics other than his country and does not consider any other necessary; that his first and paramount duty is to the administration. Secretary Long has not decided what duty Admiral Schley will next be assigned to, but will endeavor to meet the Admiral's wishes after conferring with him.

If you are, enquire of your nearest ticket agent about rates via the Nickel Plate Road, the short line between Buffalo and Chicago. Many improvements have been made in the past few years. Now the elegantly upholstered coaches, vestibule sleeping cars and powerful locomotives have been added to the equipment and substantial structures of steel and stone have replaced the old bridges, heavier rails and ties have been laid, and the road now stands at the front of the best roads in the country. The rates, however, still remains lower than via other lines.

If your ticket agent cannot give you all the information desired, address F. J. Moore, Gen'l Agent, Nickel Plate Road, 291 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. 31-10t

A Sure Sign of Croup.

Hoarseness in a child that is subject to croup is a sure indication of the approach of the disease. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has appeared, it will prevent the attack. Many mothers who have croupy children always keep this remedy at hand and find that it saves them much trouble and worry. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by L. DUTY.

Thank God once more for Duty! when we lie
With some hot anguish on our brow,
Or walk in weakness 'neath some heavy load,
Or fall by the wayside, while the world
Goes on with all its merry whirl of noise,
And never heeds that one is left behind;
And when our longing eyes scan spaces far,
And see through clouds the red sun moving down
The western slopes of sky; or when we hear
The voices of the loiterers wandering by,
Who bear away the last faint hope of cheer—
Then, then thank God for Duty! bending near,
Like dear, old-fashioned, half-forgotten friend,
Who stopped at home while joy was of our guests,
But who, when youth and strength and courage fair
Have fled and left us shadowed by despair,
Comes softly in and by the bedside bends,
With a touch so tender and a voice so true
That healing drops upon us as her gift.

Full simple clad is she—no gorgeous robe
Rustles and shines obtrusive on sick sight,
But softest gray and white, like garb of nun,
And nun-like, too, she keeps in sight her cross;
Her hands untremblingly hold the bitter cup
That, hard to drink, yet quickens the tired pulse,
And lifts us up to go our way again.

Aye, more than this! soft-stepped along the road
Hour after hour she journeys by our side,
Faithful with cup, with staff, with warning word,
And though no traveler cheer the way,
She makes the westward journey all aglow
With light, such as shall be at eventide,
On paths where shadows of her sweet cross fall.

PART VI.

CHAPTER XXXIII.—CONTINUED.

When the doctor had wormed his secret from him on the afternoon of the attack, and when, next morning, he saw the anchorage deserted, he had gone to Silver, given him the chart, which was now useless—given him the stores, for Ben Gunn's cave was well supplied with goats' meat salted by himself—given anything and everything to get a chance of moving in safety from the stockade to the two-pointed hill, there to be clear of malaria and keep a guard upon the money.

"As for you, Jim," he said, "it went against my heart, but I did what I thought best for those who had stood by their duty; and if you were not one of these, whose fault was it?"

That morning, finding that I was to be involved in the horrid disappointment he had prepared for the mutineers, he had run all the way to the cave, and, leaving Squire to guard the captain, had taken Gray and the maroon and started, making the diagonal across the island, to be at hand beside the pine. Soon, however, he saw that our party had the start of him; and Ben Gunn, being fleet of foot, had been dispatched in front to do his best alone. Then it had occurred to him to work upon the superstitions of his former shipmates, and he was so far successful that Gray and the doctor had come up and were already ambushed before the arrival of the treasure hunters.

"Ah," said Silver, "it was fortunate for me that I had Hawkins here. You would have let old John be cut to bits and never given it a thought, doctor."

"Not a thought," replied Dr. Livesey, cheerily.

And by this time we had reached the gigs. The doctor, with the pick ax, demolished one of them, and then we all got aboard the other, and set out to go round by the sea for North Inlet.

This was a run of eight or nine miles. Silver, though he was almost killed already with fatigue, was set to an oar, like the rest of us, and we were soon skimming swiftly over a smooth sea. Soon we passed out of the straits and doubled the southeast corner of the island, round which, four days ago, we had towed the "Hispaniola."

As we passed the two-pointed hill, we could see the black mouth of Ben Gunn's cave, and a figure standing by it, leaning on a musket. It was the squire; and we waved a handkerchief and gave him three cheers, in which the voice of Silver joined as heartily as any.

Three miles further, just inside the mouth of North inlet, what should we meet but the "Hispaniola," cruising by herself. The last flood had lifted her; and had there been much wind, or a strong tide current, as in the southern anchorage, we should never have found her more, or found her stranded beyond help. As it was, there was little amiss, beyond the wreck of the mainsail. Another anchor was got ready, and dropped in a fathom and a half of water. We all pulled round again to Rum cove, the nearest point for Ben Gunn's treasure house; and then Gray, single-handed, returned with the gig to the "Hispaniola," where he was to pass the night on guard.

A gentle slope ran up from the beach to the entrance of the cave. At the top the squire met us. To me he was cordial, saying nothing of my escapade, either in the way of blame or praise. At Silver's polite salute he somewhat flushed.

"John Silver," he said, "you're a prodigious villain and imposter—a monstrous impostor, sir, I am told I am not to prosecute you. Well, then, I will not. But the dead men, sir, hang about your neck like millstones."

"Thank you kindly, sir," replied Long John, again saluting.

"How dare you to thank me!" cried the squire. "It is a gross dereliction of my duty. Stand back!"

And thereupon we all entered the cave. It was a large, airy place, with a little spring and a pool of clear water, overhung with ferns. The floor was sand. Before a big fire lay Capt. Smollet; and in a far corner, only duskily flickered over by the blaze, I beheld great heaps of coin and quadrilaterals built of bars of gold. That was Flint's treasure that we had come so far to seek, and that had cost already the lives of 17 men from the "Hispaniola." How many it had cost in the amassing, what blood and sorrow, what good ships scuttled on the deep, what brave men walking the plank blindfold, what shot of cannon, what shame and lies and cruelty, perhaps no man alive could tell. Yet there were still three upon that island—Silver, and old Morgan, and Ben Gunn—who had each taken his share in these crimes, as each had hoped in vain to share in the reward.

"Come in, Jim," said the captain. "You're a good boy in your line, Jim; but I don't think you and me'll go to sea again. You're too much of the born favorite for me. Is that you, John Silver? What brings you here, man?"

"Come back to do my dooty, sir," returned Silver.

"Ah!" said the captain; and that was all he said.

What a supper I had of it that night, with all my friends around me; and what a meal it was, with Ben Gunn's salted goat, and some delicacies and a bottle of old wine from the "Hispaniola." Never, I am sure, were people gayer or happier. And there was Silver, sitting back almost out of the firelight, but eating heartily, prompt to spring forward when anything was wanted, even joining quietly in our laughter—the same bland, polite, obsequious seaman of the voyage out.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

AND LAST.

The next morning we fell early to work, for the transportation of this great mass of gold near a mile by land to the beach, and thence three miles by boat to the "Hispaniola," was a considerable task for so small a number of workmen. The three fellows still abroad upon the island did not greatly trouble us; a single sentry on the shoulder of the hill was sufficient to insure us against any sudden onslaught, and we thought, besides, they had had more than enough of fighting.

Therefore the work was pushed on briskly. Gray and Ben Gunn came and went with the boat, while the rest during their absence piled treasure on the beach. Two of the bars, slung in a rope's end, made a good load for a grown man—one that he was glad to walk slowly with. For my part, as I was not much use at carrying, I was kept busy all day in the cave, packing the minted money into bread bags.

It was a strange collection, like Billy Bones' hoard for the diversity of coinage, but so much larger and so much more varied that I think I never had more pleasure than in sorting them. English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Georges and Louises, doubloons and double guineas and moidores and sequins, the pictures of all the kings of Europe for the last hundred years, strange oriental pieces stamped with what looked like wisps of string or bits of spider's web, round pieces and square pieces, and pieces bored through the middle, as if to wear them round your neck—nearly every variety of money in the world must, I think, have found a place in that collection; and for number, I am sure they were like autumn leaves, so that my back ached with stooping and my fingers with sorting them out.

Day after day this work went on; by every evening a fortune had been stowed aboard, but there was another fortune waiting for the morrow; and all this time we heard nothing of the three surviving mutineers.

At last—I think it was on the third night—the doctor and I were strolling on the shoulder of the hill where it overlooks the lowlands of the isle, when, from out the thick darkness below, the wind brought us a noise between shrieking and singing. It was only a snatch that reached our ears, followed by the former silence.

"Heaven forgive them," said the doctor; "'tis the mutineers!"

"All drunk, sir," struck in the voice of Silver from behind us.

Silver, I should say, was allowed his entire liberty, and, in spite of daily rebuffs, seemed to regard himself once more as quite a privileged and friendly dependent. Indeed, it was remarkable how well he bore these slights, and with what unwearying politeness he kept at trying to ingratiate himself with all. Yet, I think, none treated him better than a dog; unless it was Ben Gunn, who was still terribly afraid of his old quartermaster, or myself, who had really something to thank him for; although for that matter, I suppose, I had reason to think even worse of him than anybody else, for I had seen him meditating a fresh treachery upon the plateau. Accordingly, it was pretty gruffly that the doctor answered him.

"Drunk or raving!" said he.

"Right you were, sir," replied Silver; "and precious little odds which, to you and me."

"I suppose you would hardly ask me to call you a humane man," returned the doctor, with a sneer, "and so my feelings may surprise you, Master Silver. But if I were sure they were raving—as I am morally certain one, at least, of them is down with fever—I should leave this camp, and, at whatever risk to my own carcass, take them the assistance of my skill."

"Ask your pardon, sir, you would be very wrong," quoth Silver. "You would lose your precious life, and you may lay to that. I'm on your side now, hand and glove; and I shouldn't wish for to see the party weakened, let alone yourself, seeing as I know what I owes you. But these men down there, they couldn't keep their word—no, not supposing they wished to; and what's more, they couldn't believe as you could."

"No," said the doctor. "You're the man to keep your word, we know that."

Well, that was about the last news we had of the three pirates. Only once we heard a gunshot a great way off, and supposed them to be hunting. A council was held, and it was decided that we must desert them on the island—to the huge glee, I must say, of Ben Gunn, and with the strong approval of Gray. We left a good stock of powder and shot, the bulk of the salt goat, a few medicines and some other necessaries, tools, clothing, a spare sail, a fathom or two of rope, and, by the particular desire of the doctor, a handsome present of tobacco.

That was about our last doing on the island. Before that we had got the treasure stowed, and had shipped enough water and the remainder of the goat meat, in case of any distress; and at last, one fine morning, we weighed anchor, which was about all that we could manage, and stood out of North inlet, the same colors flying that the captain had flown and fought under at the palisade.

The three fellows must have been watching us closer than we thought for, as we soon had proved. For, coming through the narrows, we had to lie very near the southern point, and there we saw all three of them kneeling together on a spit of sand, with their arms raised in supplication. It went to all our hearts, I think, to leave them in that wretched state; but we could not risk another mutiny; and to take them home for the gibbet would have been a cruel sort of kindness. The doctor hailed them and told them of the stores we had left, and where they were to find them, but they continued to call us by name and appeal to us, for God's sake, to be merciful, and not leave them to die in such a place.

At last, seeing the ship still bore on her course, and was now swiftly drawing out of earshot, one of them—I know not which it was—leaped to his feet with a hoarse cry, whipped his musket to his shoulder and sent a shot whistling over Silver's head and through the mainsail.

After that we kept under cover of the bulwarks, and when next I looked out they disappeared from the spit, and the spit itself had almost melted out of sight in the glowing distance. That was, at least, the end of that; and before noon, to my inexpressible joy, the highest rock of Treasure Island had sunk into the blue round of sea.

We were so short of men that everyone on board had to bear a hand—only the captain lying on a mattress in the stern and giving his orders; for, though greatly recovered, he was still in want of quiet. We laid her head for the nearest port in Spanish America, for we could not risk the voyage home without fresh hands; and, as it was, what with baffling winds and a couple of fresh gales, we were all worn out before we reached it.

It was just at sundown when we cast anchor in a most beautiful land-locked gulf, and were immediately surrounded by shore boats full of negroes, and Mexican Indians, and half-bloods, selling fruit and vegetables, and offering to dive for bits of money. The sight of so many good-humored faces (especially the blacks), the taste of the tropical fruits, and above all, the lights that began to shine in the town, made a most charming contrast to our dark and bloody sojourn on the island; and the doctor and the squire, taking me along with them, went ashore to pass the early part of the night. Here they met the captain of an English man-of-war, fell in talk with him, went on board his ship, and, in short, had so agreeable a time that day was breaking when we came alongside the "Hispaniola."

I was kept busy all day packing the money into bread bags.

Ben Gunn was on deck alone, and, as soon as we came on board, he began, with wonderful contortions, to make us a confession. Silver was gone. The maroon and connived at his escape in a shore boat some hours ago, and he now assured us he had only done so to preserve our lives, which would certainly have been forfeited if "that man with the one leg had stayed aboard." But this was not all. The sea cook had not gone empty-handed. He had cut through a bulkhead unobserved, and had removed one of the sacks of coin, worth, perhaps, three or four hundred guineas, to help him on his further wanderings.

I think we were all pleased to be so cheaply quit of him.

Well, to make a long story short, we got a few hands on board, made a good cruise home, and the "Hispaniola" reached Bristol just as Mr. Blandly was beginning to think of fitting out her consort. Five men only of those who had sailed returned with her. "Drink and the devil had done for the rest" with a vengeance; although, to be sure, we were not quite in so bad a case as that other ship they sung about:

"With one man of the crew alive,
What put to sea with seventy-five."

All of us had an ample share of the treasure, and used it wisely or foolishly, according to our natures. Capt. Smollet is now retired from the sea. Gray not only saved his money, but, being suddenly smit with the desire to rise, also studied his profession; and he is now mate and part owner of a fine full-rigged ship; married besides, and the father of a family. As for Ben Gunn, he got £1,000, which he spent or lost in three weeks, or, to be more exact, in 19 days, for he was back begging on the twentieth. Then he was given a lodge to keep, exactly as he had fared upon the island; and he still lives, a great favorite, though something of a butt, with the country boys, and a notable singer in church on Sundays and saints' days.

Of Silver we have heard no more. That formidable seafaring man with one leg has at last gone clean out of my life; but I dare say he met his old negress, and perhaps still lives in comfort with her and Capt. Flint. It is to be hoped so, I suppose, for his chances of comfort in another world are very small.

The bar silver and the arms still lie, for all that I know, where Flint buried them; and certainly they shall lie there for me. Oxen and wain-ropes would not bring me back again to that accursed island; and the worst dreams that ever I have are when I hear the surf booming about its coasts, or start upright in bed, with the sharp voice of Capt. Flint still ringing in my ears: "Pieces of eight! pieces of eight!"

THE END.

GREATLY FRIGHTENED.

A Young Lady's Experience in a Railway Car.

A young lady who lately journeyed from Wimbledon to London had a very uncomfortable adventure. She reached the station just as the train was starting, and had only time to jump into the first compartment, where she dropped upon a seat. Not until the train was in motion did she notice that she had a single fellow-passenger, a man, young, well-dressed, but of a somewhat forbidding aspect.

The young lady unfolded a newspaper and began to read, but as the first station was passed she chanced to glance again toward the other end of the carriage. The man was there, but his face was no longer serene. He appeared to be greatly agitated, and was gazing intently in the direction of the young lady.

A sudden, overwhelming fear took possession of her. All the wild stories of railway murders to which she had ever listened rushed through her mind. She felt herself doomed. She thought of shrieking for help, but her tongue refused to move.

The monster—for so he seemed to her—looked anxiously about him, apparently to assure himself that the time was ripe for his murderous design. Then he advanced to the other end of the carriage, came quite close to his panic-stricken fellow-passenger, and put his right hand in his overcoat pocket. Was he feeling for a knife, or a revolver? Springing to her feet, the frightened traveler faced him in despair.

"What do you mean?" she cried, half fainting with fear.

He bent toward her, smiled grimly, and said:

"Excuse me, madam. I offer you ten thousand apologies if I have alarmed you. Such a thing was farthest from my thoughts, but the fact is, I have to alight at the next station, and since you entered the train you have been sitting on my hat."

The revulsion of feeling on the lady's part can be better imagined than described. Blushes took the place of panic. Fortunately the hat was a soft one.—Youth's Companion.

Tells No Flattering Tale.

No doubt the human race would consider it little short of a universal tragedy if there were no looking glasses. Yet, in spite of their widespread use, it is an astonishing fact that none of us have ever seen ourselves as others see us. In the first place, the reflection in the mirror does not portray our likeness with any attempt at accuracy. The hair is wrong in tone; the eyes are not correct in color, and our complexions are hopelessly libeled by this specious household deceiver. It is certain that if the looking glasses spoke the truth the sale of various complexion washes would decrease to half, for any fair skin looks gray and pallid in the glass, and numbers of women who have splendid complexions ruin them by trying to improve them because they look bad in the mirror. You may be certain that, however plain your face seems, it is by no means so plain as it appears in the telltale mirror. Secondly, you cannot assume your natural expression while peering in the looking glass. The eye must be in a certain position before you can see at all, and the eye, so far as expression is concerned, governs the face. The consequence is that you can see only one of your expressions in the glass, and that expression is one of attentive examination. All the other expressions by which your friends know you, favorable or unfavorable, you have never seen, and never will see.—London Answers.

The Servant Was Willing.

At a dinner party the coachman had come in to help wait on the table. Among the guests was a very deaf old lady. Coachman, in handing vegetables, comes to the deaf party. "Peas, mum?" says Jehu. No answer. "Peas, mum?" (louder). Still no answer from the D. P., but placing her ear trumpet to her ear she lifts it interrogatively to the man, who, glancing down and seeing the tube, ejaculates: "Well, it's a rum way of taking them, but I suppose she likes it. Here goes!" and down went the peas into the ear trumpet.—San Francisco Wave.

The Retort.

Here is a retort which a "dull" student once made:

Professor—You seem to be very dull. When Alexander the Great was your age he had already conquered the world.

Student—Well, you see, he had Aristotle for a teacher.—Chambers' Journal.

Step Was Necessary.

Mrs. Kruger—I understand that Mr. Tallman kissed you on the steps last night.

Miss Kruger—Why, yes, mamma; he's so tall he had to.—Odds and Ends.

DAIRY MANAGEMENT.

How to Keep the Cows in a Prime Condition of Health and Insure Pecuniary Success.

Twice each day, 14 times each week, our cows are driven from the field to the stable during pasture season and milked, each cow tied in her own stall and fed a supplementary ration of grain, but not a balanced one except that it aids digestion and assimilation with pasture consumed during the day. This grain ration is made up largely of bran, with 25 per cent. of chop added. We do not feed grain for the purpose of quieting our cows, but for the specific purpose of obtaining revenue, and always feel that it pays to do it in such a degree as good judgment permits.

Our cows are driven quietly to and from field, which is not far, nor should it be distant. We saw a man go one mile to a rented pasture to milk. This was on the right side of economy as against driving cows the distance to and from pasture. We fear some of our dairymen are not sufficiently careful during the summer in caring for stables, keeping them cleanly and removing daily some of the products that soon produce noisome odors. Everything should be kept absolutely clean and every stain dusted with gypsum or what is almost as good, common road dust.

Almost daily our stalls are swept and the walk behind treated likewise, so that they present a tempting place for the cows to go to eat and rest while they are speedily pailed. We advocate rapid milking when done in a masterly way. In fly time a burlap cover closed up at the rear is thrown over a cow while milking her, and she stands perfectly quiet and cannot use her tail to the annoyance of the milker. Udders and teats are dusted before milking, thus avoiding foreign substances getting into the milk, which we consider very important. At once after cows are milked they are turned out to avoid soiling the trench. We are poor authority on kicking cows. The best way to break them is not to have them. Kicking cows are, we think, the result of poor handling and training.—George E. Scott, in National Stockman.

HAULING CORN FODDER.

Description of a Sled That Is Easier and Far More Convenient Than Any Wagon.

A handy sled for hauling corn fodder from the field to the rick or barn is shown herewith. It is far easier and more convenient than a wagon. I drive within a foot of the shock, push the shock over with a pitchfork and the man on the sled takes hold of the top and pulls while the man with the fork pushes. I begin loading at the front end, and fill one side, then fill the other. Then drive to where it is wanted and set the shocks off whole. This mehod is better than stacking, as it does not break up or waste it. I want to haul every shock of my corn up and set it off around the lots so I won't have to go out blizzardy days and get it from the field. I use four horses abreast on it, for the field is hilly and a good ways to haul. Dimensions are: Hickory runner poles 18½ feet long and six inches at butt, four feet four inches apart. Cross pieces are ten feet long, hickory poles hewn down about square and bolted to runners. The runners want to be braced strongly in front so they won't pull together. The boards are 16 feet, outside pieces four by four inches to add strength. Runners have two-inch holes bored in them for stakes, which are of hickory. The front ones fit tight, but the back ones are loose, so they may be removed when putting the last shock on.—J. T. Hubbard, in Farm and Home.

SLED FOR HAULING CORNFODDER.

HINTS FOR DAIRYMEN.

Do not depend on beauty of form in the selection of the good dairy cow alone. One among the best butter cows we ever possessed was of undeniable "scrub" origin and exceedingly angular.

While a great many people find fault with the Devon on account of their long horns, yet they have proven themselves a good beef cattle; besides, they have excellent milking qualities.

In the Elgin district there are probably produced 100,000 pounds of butter per day, which would require 2,500,000 pounds of milk and a loss of ten cents per hundred would mean a loss of $2,500 per day, or nearly $1,000,000 a year.

One really good cow will furnish as much milk as two ordinary ones, while the one will cost but half as much as the two for keeping. In the latter case the profit all goes in keeping the extra cow. If we would prosper we must keep our wits awake.

Skip one feeding period after the calf is removed so it will have a good appetite, then give from three to four pints of whole milk fresh from the cow; it will then drink without the finger. Feed only twice a day and the first week feed its mother's milk fresh.—Western Plowman.

FEMININE FRILLS.

New Notions That Are Noticed in the Latest Costumes for the Ladies.

The modistes have not planned for amateur workers this season. Puffings and shirring and fine work on chiffon are to be seen in everything. The necks of some gowns are filled in with the finest shirred chiffon and chiffon ruffles are ruffled again with chiffon, or finished with little double puffs. A pretty reception gown of silk has chiffon sleeves puffed the full length, and a tiny double ruffle or puff edges the front panel and runs around the bottom of the skirt. The chiffon appears on the gown in no other place. These little finishes of chiffon are very pretty around the skirts of gowns.

There are few kinds of trimming that are not to be seen this year, and much of the trimming runs around the skirts and bodices bayadere fashion. Embroidery is always charming, and a pretty little gown of white chiffon made over white silk has rows of embroidery in white around the skirt and the little, full, round bodice, alternating with tiny ruffles of the chiffon, and covering it entirely. It is very girlish and pretty.

A striking gown which brings out the popular chenille and the polka dot effect has big chenille dots on a gown of a pretty pattern of coarse, white net. Black and white are seen on a gown which has the white for a foundation, some pretty, thin material, the skirt ruffled half way up and the remainder trimmed with graduated bands of black velvet ribbon perhaps two inches wide at the head of the ruffles and growing smaller gradually up to the waist, where they increase in width again up to the low-cut corsage.

Entire gowns of yellow and orange are seen for evening, and these colors form parts of other gowns. There is more embroidery to be seen in a yellow gown, over which is white chiffon with tiny yellow flowers embroidered upon it in soft silk.

The bias bands of velvet lend themselves to the crinkled ruffled effects to be seen in so many things. In one costume the overskirts and panels are outlined with bias bands of velvet ruffled on, or, it may be more appropriately said, held a little full in the sewing, so that it has the effect of a very scant ruffle set into the edge.

The tiny ruffles of chiffon, which are not finished with ruffles, and even some which are, are edged with tiny bands of ribbon or velvet. On a pink gown the many ruffles of chiffon are edged with narrow pink velvet with a soft and attractive effect.—N. Y. Times.

A FATHER'S STORY.

From the Evening Crescent, Appleton, Wis

A remarkable cure from a disease which has generally wrecked the lives of children, and left them in a condition to which death itself would be preferred has attracted a great amount of attention among the residents of the west end of Appleton.

The case is that of little Willard Creech, son of Richard D. Creech, a well known employe of one of the large paper mills in the Fox River Valley. The lad was attacked by spinal disease and his parents had given up all hope of his ever being well again when, as by a miracle, he was healed and is now in school as happy as any of his mates.

Mr. Creech, the father of the boy, who resides at 1062 Second Street, Appleton, Wisconsin, told the following story:

He Goes to School.

"Our boy was absolutely helpless. His lower limbs were paralyzed, and when we used electricity he could not feel it below his hips. Finally we let the doctor go as he did not seem to help our son and we nearly gave up hope. Finally my mother who lives in Canada wrote advising the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I bought some.

"This was when our boy had been on the stretcher for an entire year. In six weeks after taking the pills we noted signs of vitality in his legs, and in four months he was able to go to school.

"It is two years since he took the first of the pills and he is at school now just as happy and well as any of the other children. It was nothing else in the world that saved the boy than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

AT THE FAMILY BOARD.

Don't bring worries to the table,
Don't bring anger, hate or scowls;
Banish everything unpleasant,
Talk and eat with smiling jowls.
It will aid your own digestion,
If you wear a smiling face;
It will jolly up the others,
If you only set the pace.
Knowing something funny, tell it;
Something sad, forget to knell it;
Something hateful, quick dispel it
At the table.

Cares domestic, business troubles,
Ills of body, soul or brain,
Unkind thoughts and nagging tempers,
Speech that causes others pain,
Public woes and grim disasters,
Crimes and wrongs and right's defeat—
Let them all go to the wind
When you sit you down to eat.
Knowing something funny, tell it;
Something sad, forget to knell it;
Something hateful, quick dispel it
At the table.

You may breathe a pious blessing,
Over viands rich and good;
But a blessing with long faces
Won't assimilate your food;
While a meal of bread and herring,
With a glass of water clear,
Is a feast if it's accompanied
With the blessing of good cheer.
Knowing something funny, tell it;
Something sad, forget to knell it;
Something hateful, quick dispel it
At the table.

FANCY WORK BASKET.

Just How to Convert the Ordinary Berry Basket Into a Dainty Ornamentation.

For 50 cents you can make the daintiest little work basket imaginable. When not in use the basket can be hung up or set upon the fancy table and then it can serve as a decoration.

Get an ordinary berry basket, one that has the bars crossed. Then purchase a yard of pretty Japanese lawn for ten cents, and five yards of narrow double faced ribbon. "Baby" ribbon is cheaper. Make a nice full bag, gather it, leaving a nice deep heading, and fasten it in your basket. On each side of the basket tie a good-sized bow of ribbon, make strings furnished with pretty bows, to hang it by, and you will have a lovely little work basket or a pretty wall decoration.

COSTUMES IN CHINA.

A Country Where Changes in Fashion Are Looked Upon with Positive, Actual Dismay.

The latest fashion, the mode of the moment, is one most valued in most European countries.

In the east exactly the reverse state of things prevails. In China, especially, any new fashion is looked upon not only with disfavor, but with actual dismay. In China, a loose coat and trousers complete a woman's attire. She has no tiresome petticoats to contend with. A slight difference in the cut of the coat alone distinguishes her garb from that of man. The coat is very loose in the body, only fitting closely over the shoulders and round the neck. It descends as far as the knees, being slit up the sides to allow for the needful freedom in walking. The shoulder seam is very long, reaching well down the arm, thus forming part of the sleeve, which is wide and reaches the wrist. The trousers are ample and straight, almost covering the feet, the needful fullness being confined by a wide-shaped band, which is concealed by the coat. On state occasions a very gorgeous coat is donned. It is one mass of embroiderey; and with this especial garment an extraordinary sort of petticoat, resembling a kilt, is worn This consists of two flat aprons of embroidery joined together with plaited silk. The embroidered apron is flat in front and behind, and the silk is full at the sides to allow for motion. These are the embroideries which, when discarded, are eagerly sought for as curiosities by foreigners.

So much for gala costumes in China For every-day wear the coat and trousers prevail. Rich women embroider their silk, satin or crepe coats very elaborately round the neck and sleeves; and sometimes the trousers are likewise adorned. The coats are all cut in the one pattern, and only differ in color and material. The top coat is generally of a dark color—blue or purple; while the undergarments are of the same shape, and are made of pretty, bright-colored silk. The poorer women wear exactly the same shaped garments; but these are invariably made of linen—in summer, white; and at other seasons, dark blue prevails. In cold weather the Chinese woman simply adds coat after coat to her costume, until, at last, she dons one which is about an inch thick with padding which makes her look ridiculously "puffed out."

A PLUSH CAPE FOR EARLY WINTER DAYS.

There is now displayed upon the counters a quality of plush that is so fine that it can hardly be distinguished from fur. It is softer than the material of former years and there is a beautiful seal brown woven into it which makes it more deceptive.

A cape made of this plush is very beautiful. I saw one that only covered the shoulders of the wearer. The collar was very high and the inside was quilted with soft white India silk. Over each row of stitching there was the tiniest strip of black velvet. The edge of the cape was finished with frill of heavy white silk over which was another ruffle of thickly black Liberty silk.

The English walking hat was of black felt with a fancy chenille border. Upon each side were wreaths of autumn leaves caught in front with loops of black satin ribbon.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases of of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

STORIES OF RELIEF.

Two Letters to Mrs. Pinkham.

Mrs. JOHN WILLIAMS, Englishtown, N. J., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot begin to tell you how I suffered before taking your remedies. I was so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without falling. I had womb trouble and such a bearing-down feeling; also suffered with my back and limbs, pain in womb, inflammation of the bladder, piles and indigestion. Before I had taken one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great deal better, and after taking two and one-half bottles and half a box of your Liver Pills I was cured. If more would take your medicine they would not have to suffer so much."

Mrs. JOSEPH PETERSON, 513 East St., Warren, Pa., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered with womb trouble over fifteen years. I had inflammation, enlargement and displacement of the womb. I had the backache constantly, also headache, and was so dizzy. I had heart trouble, it seemed as though my heart was in my throat at times choking me. I could not walk around and I could not lie down, for then my heart would beat so fast I would feel as though I was smothering. I had to sit up in bed nights in order to breathe. I was so weak I could not do anything.

"I have now taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and can say I am perfectly cured. I do not think I could have lived long if Mrs. Pinkham's medicine had not helped me."

What Cuba's Loss Means to Spain.

The loss of Cuba means to Spain the loss of the very sustenance of the nation. Already her tax ridden people are crying for bread. In the same way the loss of your once vigorous appetite means poverty and starvation to your body. If any reader of this paper wishes to be as hungry again as when a child, and wants to fully enjoy hearty meals, we can recommend Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It cures indigestion, dyspepsia and constipation.

CLEAN PEOPLE

Cleanliness goes with health. If we have catarrh anywhere we cannot be wholly clean.

Make systematic efforts to be free from this disgusting disease. Mrs. L. A. Johnston, 103 Pilham and Ripley Sts., Montgomery, Ala., tells her experience with catarrh of the stomach and how she was cured:

"I will state to you that I have taken eight bottles of your Pe-ru-na and two of Man-a-lin and rejoice to say, 'God bless Dr. Hartman and Pe-ru-na.' And I earnestly assure you that it has done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken in my life. I prescribe it to every one I meet who is suffering, as the best medicine in the world, and have made many converts who are now rejoicing in the great good which they have derived from the same. I can tell you that I am almost entirely relieved of indigestion, that great foe which has tortured me so many years, and can now eat anything I desire without it is fruits or something acid."

To understand the scientific action of Pe-ru-na it is best to have Dr. Hartman's special book for women or his book on chronic catarrh. These books are mailed free by the Pe-ru-na Medicine Company, Columbus, O. All druggists sell Pe-ru-na.

What do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee.

Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.
